Let's go !

UNIVERSITY

This semester at TU Dortmund, I took master's degree courses in Mechanical Engineering. Initially, I was worried that the language barrier would be an obstacle, especially given the complexity of the subjects, but the professors turned out to be extremely helpful and attentive to our needs. I want to thank the department's Erasmus office, which supported and guided me throughout my journey from start to finish, answering every question and helping with any difficulty I faced.

CITY

"Dortmund is a comfortable city to live in—everything you need is within easy reach. There was plenty of entertainment too, like the beer festival, open-air concerts in the squares, traditional German pubs, and the stadium experience, which I highly recommend. Public transport offers plenty of different options, and with the Deutschlandticket, everything is included.

FINDING ACCOMMODATIONS

How was living abroad?

Living abroad is an experience that enriches your cultural background and helps you grow as a person.

Apartment search? Rent? Living location?
Maintenance costs?

Fortunately, TU Dortmund provides Erasmus students with the opportunity to live in dormitories right next to the university campus. The apartment had all the basic necessities for daily life, and privacy was guaranteed with very spacious single rooms. The rent is affordable, and the Hausmeister is always available if any maintenance issues arise

NETWORKING

(Example)

Do you have any advices for networking?

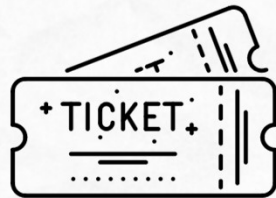

ESN
Dortmund

My advice is to get involved with the ESN team, as they organize events and trips every single week. It's a great opportunity to meet people who are sharing the same Erasmus experience as you and who will be spending the upcoming semester alongside you.

OTHER ASPECTS

Insurance

Visa

Credits cards

Currency

As a European student, I didn't have to go through extra procedures to get a visa or exchange currency. My credit card worked seamlessly everywhere—maybe a little too well!

Tour Guide

Transport

Catch a train and visit as many nearby cities as you can; every single one of them will leave you with something special. For example: Bonn, Köln, Düsseldorf, Hamburg, Hannover, Aachen

INSTAGRAM

What picture would best represent your stay abroad? What would you have liked to see or know about your host university beforehand?

We would like to post it on the Faculty's Instagram Account😊

EMMA

Without a doubt, I highly recommend coming to study in Dortmund for a semester, especially during the summer term. The university is state-of-the-art, and the campus is packed with activities and services that make your period studying abroad truly special.
